INTRODUCTION

Peer Evaluation of teaching is a formative process where two peers work together and evaluate each other's teaching. The observer offers feedback to the colleague who is doing the teaching. Indeed in many situations the greatest benefits actually flow to the person who is observing, so that it is a good strategy for the improvement of teaching skills. It helps to collect a clear reflection and friendly criticisms from peers and also help to improve the judgement skills.

As part of BEd curriculum, during the second spell of teaching practice, twelve student teachers from four departments were admitted at SNVHSS, Nedunganda. During that period each of us got greater opportunity to observe peers' teaching. Here ten observation schedules of peers from different optional subjects such as Malayalam, English, physical science and social science are attached.
